RALLY DAY EXERCISES

Protestant Church Sunday Schools Hold Special Service
Last Sunday Morning. Children Advanced to Higher Departments.

Rally Day was observed last Sunday at the South, Baptist, Christ and Free churches with special services in the morning and at the sessions of the Church schools.

There were large congregations at the services and many parents remained to the sessions of the schools.

At the South church Rev. E. Victor Bigelow preached an appropriate sermon from Deut. 5:10, "Assemble me the people and I will make them hear my words that they may teach their children." The choir anthem was Maker's "Remember now they Creator."

Mrs. J. Edgar Folk was the speaker at the special services held in the vestry.

At the Free church a program of great interest was rendered by the primary department of the church school, and before receiving their certificates from Rev. F. A. Wilson, pastor emeritus, they recited the Beatitudes, the commandments, the Apostles' Creed, the Shepherds' Psalm and the Lord's Prayer.

Baptism was administered by Rev. A. S. Wheelock. He also presented the certificates to the members of the cradle-roll department, promoted to the primary.

Many Important Items Discussed at Meeting of the Board.
Transportation a Problem.

Transportation of pupils and the increase of cost of more than 100 per cent over a year ago, was discussed at the meeting of the school board held Tuesday night in the Punched school building and presided over by Dr. Edward C. Conroy, chairman. The recent jump in street car fares which has doubled the cost per pupil may result in the Board furnishing transportation. The meeting empowered Supt. Henry C. Sanborn to make a survey of the transportation problems in towns similar to Andover and report at the next meeting.

Numerous inquiries have been made regarding the Columbus Day holidays and the board voted to close only on Tuesday, October 12th. The schools will be in session next Monday as usual.

The Governor Has Proclaimed October 9th "Fire Prevention Day"
The purpose of this day is to emphasize the public character of our fire loss.

You, Mr. Citizen, bear this tremendous burden which averages nearly one million dollars a day in the U. S. Remember, Fire Insurance does not pay this loss, but simply distributes it.

Since over half of this huge waste is preventable by the elimination of ordinary carelessness it follows that it is within your control to reduce this burden of yours.

And it is you who must and will benefit by reduction of this loss. Any benefit accruing to the insurance companies must be only temporary.

And so, Mr. Citizen, is not this subject worthy of your serious attention? Doesn't it compare favorably with any of the frantic efforts now being made to reduce the high cost of living?

From week to week various common fire hazards will be discussed in this space. May we have your co-operation?

Soccer

Smith and Dove defeated the strong General Electric team of Lynn last Saturday on the Mill field by four goals to one. This was the first defeat for the Electrics this season and considering their past performances and the clever way they played, the victory is a very creditable one for Smith and Dove. Because both sets of jerseys were dark and looked so much alike the Smith and Dove team wore the old Andover United sweaters and they did honor to the colors of the Champions.

The visitors were the stronger team in all but shooting and had the better of the first half though the Smith and Dove eleven led by one goal to nothing at the interval. While the Electrics were undoubtedly better, the home team was no means weak and in the second half they proved this: First by the way the defense stood up against the grueling onslaught of the big Lynn forwards. The inside men of the visitors, who are tall and fast, had a track of bunching near the goal and coving in three abreast, and it took a lot to stop them. At this work, looking up the attack, Captain Jimmie Fox put in a great afternoon. Time after time he beat the opposing forwards on the ball or blocked their shots which were all hard and fast and usually delivered on the run. Second, in the way the forwards played havoc with the visitors defense, after play was shifted from the right wing and tried on the left with Brown and Moffat doing the attacking. After the General Electric team had the better of matters for half an hour in the second half, with Andover trying the attack only through Killacky and Todd and being driven back by the doughty Daley, the home left wing was given the ball and results came almost at once. Moffat scored cleverly and made opportunity for Killacky to make the next shortly after. The change on the Smith and Dove team certainly worked well and a further change at left half and outside right would still add to the strength of the Mill eleven.

Munroe played a great game in goal and Cargill came through with his usual consistent game. "Bob" tackles with judgment, never misses and though not a long punter he places his kicks and clears his lines. That is better than a long drive that may be returned by the opposing defense.

In all except goal-scoring the General Electric team was true to its reputation. At this, they had an off day which was mostly caused by the hustling game of the local backs, for the visitors could carry the ball to the goal area but when there, they were unable to finish.

The weather was ideal and a good attendance was encouraging. The game was fast, the turf being in splendid condition. There were but few fouls, in fact the games this season on the local pitch have been free from dirty work. Clever soccer was played by both sides, the short passing game which is such a pleasure to witness.

The first goal came after Moffat had secured the ball when Dunn missed and placed nicely to the goal as Daley blocked him. From the resulting scrimmage Deyernmond scored. There was no further scoring in this half. On resuming the visitors scored within one minute and things looked blue for Andover. The General Electrics tore things up for a while and looked like scoring any minute. The few chances Smith and Dove had were nipped by McKay or Daley and play kept pretty well in the home end. Finally a change of attack by the Smith and Dove trying their left wing, brought unexpected but delightful results and the home side was soon leading, first by one goal and shortly after by two, and finally just before time was called, making it four to one.

Smith and Dove: Munroe; Low and Cargill; Coleman, Haddon and Nicoll; Killacky, Todd, Deyernmond, Brown and Moffat.

General Electric: Eckles; Dunn and Daley; Cane, McKay and Dukers; Cathbert, McLeish, Nicholson, Somerville and Wilson.

Score: Smith and Dove 4, General Electric 1. Goals: by Deyernmond 2, Moffat, Killacky and Nicholson. Referee: Mr. Woodcock.

"International"

The annual international soccer match played between players of Scottish and of English birth will be played Columbus Day on the Smith and Dove athletic field. This is the Soccer classic and is usually played on Thanksgiving but to have a better chance of favorable weather the game is brought forward to the 12th.

The Scottish side will wear the Smith and Dove jerseys and will be: goal, John Rennie of Arlington; backs, J. Low of Smith and Dove and McCauley of Beverly; half-backs, Coleman of Smith and Dove and Haddon of Beverly; and Caldwell of Arlington; forwards, Dundas of Ameskeage, McLeish of Gen. Electric, c. Low of Beverly;

Somerville and Wilson of Gen. Electric. Alex Haddon will captain his side. He is an Andover man, son of William Haddon of Essex street.

The English side will wear the Arlington new jerseys and will be: goal, Morley of Arlington; backs, H. Hulse of General Electric; halfbacks, Mitchell W. Kelley of Abbott Worsted and Churchley of Beverly; forwards, Marsden and Riley of Beverly, Nicholson of General Electric, Fletcher of Lynn Gas and Shier of Arlington. W. Kelley will Captain the English side. He is now captain and star of the Abbott Worsted eleven.

Patrick Darey will referee and he is the best in the district or in the state for that matter. The linesmen will be neutral.

State Cup Competition

Smith and Dove soccer team will journey to Lynn by motor truck Saturday afternoon to play in the first round of the State Cup. The team is now favored to go several rounds in this competition after their victory last week. The Lynn Gas Company team will oppose them and while they are a good team the local eleven is better and should win this round.

The draws for the first round are: Boston section—Fore River A vs. Swedish American at Quincy, referee, Garrigan; St. Georges vs. Maple Leafs at Marcella street, referee, Peterson; Fore River B vs. Sturtevant at Quincy, referee, R. Ritchie; Boston Hovers vs. Gray and Davis at Sullivan Square, referee, A. Catto; Furnum Shoe vs. Trimo at Brockton, referee, T. Richie; Braintree Welfare, a bye.

Lawrence section—G. E. Thistles drew a bye; United Shoe vs. General Electrics at Beverly, referee Woodcock; Lynn Gas vs. Smith and Dove at Lynn, referee Hulse; Abbott Worsted vs. Arlington Mills at Forge Village, referee, Darey.

Western New England section—Chicopee Rovers vs. Hendee Indians at Chicopee, referee Cruickshanks; Whitall vs. West Boylston at Worcester; Referee, Tuson; Farr Alpaca vs. Ludlow at Holyoke, referee, Fox.

All games must be played on or before October 9th. The largest number of clubs are entered since back in 1911, numbering 21.

Successful Legion Dance

A successful dance was held by Andover Post No. 8, American Legion in the Town hall last Friday evening. There was a very large attendance, nearly 300 being present, including many from Lawrence.

It was the first of a series to be held by the Post during the coming season and the proceeds of the dances will be used for the work of the legion. Excellent music was furnished by Milington's orchestra of Lawrence.

The committee in charge comprised William Holden, chairman; Pearl Wilson, Paul M. Cheney, Walter F. Keefe, Clarence Smalley, Douglas Hutchison, Wendell H. Kydd, Douglas Sparks, Henry Murphy and John Eldred.

Five Minute Chats on Our Presidents

By JAMES MORGAN

WEDDED IN WHITE HOUSE

1864—July 21, Frances Folsom born in Buffalo.

1885—Graduated from Wells college.

1886—June 2, married President Cleveland in the White House.

1913—February 10, married Prof. Thomas J. Preston at Princeton, N. J.

AS THE Democrats had lost power under a bachelor president, James Buchanan, they regained it after a quarter of a century under another bachelor president. That strange coincidence was brought to an end by Cleveland's marriage in the second year of his administration.

From the day Cleveland entered the executive mansion at Albany, gossip busily made matches for him with one after another of the eligible women who appeared at his receptions. A special favorite of those persistent rumors was the pretty widow of one of his old law partners, Oscar Folsom, whose home was one of the few homes in Buffalo where this unsocial person had been in the habit of visiting. It was not suspected that all along his own choice had been the daughter rather than the mother.

Mrs. Folsom and her daughter were guests of the president and Miss Cleveland in their first month at the White House. Even the wisecracks of Washington did not guess that the beautiful young girl who was present at a reception—all in white—would in another year be the bride of her host.

Miss Folsom had graduated and was traveling in Europe when the country was set in a flutter by the announcement of her engagement. She returned home to meet such an ordeal as no other American girl of twenty-two ever has faced. Her name was on every tongue in America; her portrait was in every paper, and the press boats of him outside his neighborhood were his sledge-hammer vetoes from the mayor's office only two years before his election to the presidency. The whole state of New York stopped to listen to his resounding whacks and next the whole country took notice.

The sudden, the theatrical rise of the man was not a mere caprice, a blind stroke of luck. On the contrary, he was nominated and elected president because he was the logical, common-sense choice; because this unknown, unambitious lawyer of Buffalo had become in two swift years the most conspicuous embodiment of the things that the times called for—Independence in politics and a higher standard of conduct in office.

Here was a man who was to make his own precedents, a man who was to care for nothing that had happened before he happened. The first president after the Civil war to have had no part in that strife, he was without a political past, and his face was turned wholly to the future.

He struck dismay to the greedy hopes of the Democrats, after their long wandering in a wilderness without spoils, by announcing that he would let the Republican office-holders finish their terms, with the exception of those who had been guilty of "offensive partisanship." When the Republican senate attempted to interfere with such removals as he did make, he objected to the revival of an old statute "after an existence of nearly 20 years of almost innocuous desuetude." This phrase was too much for the senators, and the act was repealed.

At last Cleveland deliberately sacrificed himself for the sake of plain speaking. The prospects of his reelection were bright. His native conservatism had made him a favorite in the great financial centers of New York, and the all-powerful business interests of the country were satisfied with him. But on the eve of the election of 1888 he upset the entire situation by sending to congress his sensational tariff message, opening with the now oft-quoted words: "It is a condition which confronts us, not a theory."

crowded about her ship from which she was smuggled aboard a revenue cutter to avoid the curious crowd at New York dock.

There had been only one marriage of a president, and John Tyler was a widower, which took some of the romance out of the occasion. For the first time a president was to marry in the White House. As Miss Folsom's mother had given up her home and as her grandfather's house was in mourning for his recent death, like the affianced of a sovereign she went to her husband's home to be married.

The wedding in the blue room was extremely simple, the only guests being a few relatives of the bride and groom and the members of the cabinet. After the cake had been cut in the state dining room, the bridal pair succeeded in stealing out the back door under cover of darkness to a waiting train in a switch yard. They had eluded the curious crowds gathered in front of the White House and at the station, but not the ubiquitous press, whose locomotive was under steam and in readiness to pursue them, with a trainload of reporters, to their honeymoon retreat in the Maryland mountains.

The continued attention of a vigilant press wherever the presidential couple went was indignantly resented by the bridegroom, who hotly denounced the "ghoul-like gleam" with which his family affairs were discussed. More malicious, more cruel were the unprinted tales which were persistently circulated as long as he remained in public life.

Mrs. Cleveland is said on one occasion to have given a pathetic hint of what the strokes aimed at the president through her little ones meant to a mother. With childlike bashfulness a daughter was holding back from the greetings of a small company at the White House, when Mrs. Cleveland said, "Speak up, dear, or the people will be told that you are deaf and dumb."

Mrs. Cleveland herself was spared. At first her girlish charms, afterward her womanly dignity and her maternal devotion made this most youthful the most beloved mistress of the White House.

SERVICE PINS PRESENTED

At Factory No. 2, Charles F. Tyler received a twenty-five year service pin, while several employees at Factory 1 also were similarly rewarded.

A majority of the employees have been with the company for periods for from ten to thirty-five years and no deductions from their terms of service were made on account of war records or temporary leave of absence.

The pins were graded as follows: One to five years' service, five to ten; ten to fifteen; fifteen to twenty; twenty-five years and thirty-five years. The design is a very attractive one, with the THCO monogram in the center. Around the monogram on a field of deep red are the words, "Tyrian Loyalty and Service," in gold. The years of service are in gold on fields of white, blue or green, according to the length of time the recipient has been in the employ of the company.

JOHN N. COLE

Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Winthrop Murray Crane

It is natural in writing of men who have filled large places in the world's doings, to refer to the death of one of that kind as leaving a place difficult if not impossible to be filled. We see great men pass on, have this thought for a short time, recall many great achievements, but little by little the memory fades. This is true unless there has permeated the character of such a man that quality which gives to the memory the touch of personal sympathy and brotherly love indicating a human element of superlative degree.

Winthrop Murray Crane loved his fellow men. Occupying one of the chief positions in the business world — perhaps one of the ten greatest business leaders in the United States — he became a counselor for other business interests, whose judgment was highly prized and whose influence had a far-reaching effect. There was never even a suggestion of the recognized captain of industry, yet it is doubtful if in passing upon the great business matters that have been so absorbing and so difficult during the past two generations, there was a man in all the nation who dominated big business more than did Mr. Crane. The frail, slight man, with almost timid characteristics who hesitated before the public view was always positive in the business council chamber. The quiet, retiring disposition that led one who did not know him to expect only negative action, held sway among business associates that was difficult to understand unless intimately known, but when known became readily appreciated as being an evidence of reserve force and power, keen business judgment, warm-hearted human sympathy, and an overpowering desire always to do the wise thing, if right.

If Mr. Crane gave evidence of being timid and retiring in business matters, that characteristic was much more prominent in his public life. It is doubtful if the history of any State carries a case similar to that which marked the progress of the State's most beloved citizen from his first entrance into public life as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts, and through the high place of Governor out into the councils of the nation as a United States Senator. His longest political speech would take hardly a stickful of type in the average country printing office. His most positive political declaration would be hardly more than a short sentence. His political platform was seldom written in words, and his political leadership was never exercised through commands. Yet Winthrop Murray Crane became undoubtedly the largest political factor in the United States, without any of the arts that political progress is supposed to be dependent upon. If it were necessary to give a reason why he attained this position, in the shortest possible words, the writer would believe that it would be best expressed in that one thought, that he loved his fellow men.

He became a genius in the kind of political analysis that always led to action, even though it seldom found expression in words. His opinions undoubtedly carried more weight all over the country than did those of any other political leader. If he felt deeply on any phase of political action, his response was immediate action in support of his opinion and his views. If he did not take the public fully into his confidence it was never because he distrusted the public, but entirely because he was confident in his own ability and resourcefulness to lead out of troubled waters into calm seas.

His was the cheery life wherever it was met with. His was the helpful life wherever trouble was manifest. His was the friendly life wherever tests came that tried men whom he knew — aye, and often men whom he did not know — for in all cases the large wealth which Mr. Crane possessed never failed to respond to the large heart which was prompt and outspoken. Probably more small business interests all over the United States know the kind of sympathy which took substantial shape whenever Mr. Crane's heart was touched, than can give credit to any other friend.

To know Mr. Crane was to love him. To be privileged to share in his councils in even a small way was always an inspiration. To know his course was to feel confidence in the task that was to be performed, and to have him point out something to do, was to enjoy a privilege in doing it. To be trusted by him was to have a large confidence in everything that he was interested in — business, government, fellow men. He lived as the State's present great Governor has written — not only with a firm and abiding faith in his State, but in his neighbors, in the great nation of which he was such a large part, in his fellow man wherever he touched him. The sense of personal loss through the death of Mr. Crane will be felt all over the United States, because his was a life that was personal to so many people in the United States.

A great man because he was a good man — Winthrop Murray Crane.

Punchard Piano Fund

The Punchard Piano Fund is still steadily climbing upward to the total desired. During the past week several generous contributions have been received, and interest in the work of raising the fund to purchase a new piano and provide other necessities for the school hall, is very marked.

The committee recently received a very interesting letter from a former pupil of the school who has not lived in Andover for years, but who still remembers her school days in Punchard. She now lives in a western state, but wrote that she was very much interested in the school and the Alumni Association, and through the medium of the Townsman was watching the growth of the fund. In response to an invitation to attend the next Punchard reunion, she said she would be very glad to accept if possible, but as she is nearing her seventy-eighth birthday, she probably would not be able to come to Andover.

Such spirit as this is what made the old days in the old Punchard School so valuable and so helpful, and it is a spirit that may well be emulated among the classes of later years. Punchard has left its imprint more or less indelibly on many hundreds of boys and girls and men and women, and it is in gratitude for lessons learned there that many of the alumni are now coming forward to support a movement to help the school.

Contributions have been received during the past week from the following:

Miss Lucy B. Abbott
Arthur Boutwell
Mrs. Frank T. Carlton
Miss Jane B. Carpenter
Miss Miriam F. Carpenter
Miss Harriet M. Carter
Mrs. W. H. Carter
Mrs. Mary D. Churchill

A Word on Tree Destruction

Editor of Townsman:

Dear Sir:

From one end of the land to the other, there comes the cry, "Save the Forests," and everywhere are the warning signs, "Be careful where you throw your lighted matches and cigar stubs."

The careless smoker and camper has caused the destruction of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of timberland, and ruined as many more beautiful trees.

These classes of depredators are hard to discover and bring to justice, but the man who deliberately mutilates and destroys trees and who is known, should be brought to feel the full force of the arm of the law.

Such a man is in Andover, and the citizens of West Andover are up in arms at the havoc he has wrought with the trees along the roadside for a distance of nearly a mile.

He had a building to move — a perfectly legitimate undertaking with the proper permission — but he had no permission in moving that building to hack and mar virtually for all time, scores of beautiful trees along the side of the road.

It is claimed by him that he asked and received permission from the tree warden to cut a few of the branches of a few trees, and that he told the tree warden that the trees would be in no way suffer. The permission was given only verbally, with the understanding that no permanent damage would be done to the trees.

Ruin and havoc is the result on every hand, and the matter will be pushed in the courts to the limit both by the residents of West Andover, and by the A. V. L. S. it is understood.

There was absolutely no excuse for the mutilation of the trees and it is time that this sort of work, altogether too common in town, was stopped.

The Punchard Freshmen were entertained by the Sophomores at a masquerade party given in the school hall on last Friday evening. About one hundred and thirty were present and the gayly colored costumes made a very festive scene.

Those who took part were: Interpreter, Virginia L. Ramsdell; Turk, Melvin Haynes; Kafusalem, Viola Cushman; Sam, John Frederickson; Slaves, Ruth and Nettie Pritchard; Cats, Jennie Walker, Molly Colbert, Dorothy Sullivan, Ella Buckley, Sam Battles, Burton Abbott, Charles Frederickson, Malcolm Ruhl.

One Pipe—The Modern way to Heat

THE MAGEE ONE-PIPE FURNACE is the new principle in heating to which the householder may confidently look for the realization of what he has always hoped for in his heater—"hoped for" but never "realized."

To-day this realization is made possible by the unique features presented in the Magee system. Through its single warm-air pipe, the Magee sends all of the warm air which is generated, upstairs into the house where it is needed. Coal bills do not look so large when you realize that all of the coal heat which you pay for is utilized; no part of it is wasted. Think it over and

Tuesday Club Begins Season

The first regular meeting of the Tuesday Club was held this week at the home of Mrs. Horace Hale Smith on Lupin Road. Mrs. Smith was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Chester Abbott.

The program for the winter arranged by a committee, of which Mrs. John V. Holt is chairman, will include the Study of "Australia" as well as that of "Community Service."

At Tuesday's meeting Australia was the subject of two papers; one read by Miss Madeline Hevers was entitled "Discoveries in the South Seas," the other by Mrs. Horace Hale Smith, "The Northern Territory, the 'Cinderella' of Australia."

Register Tomorrow

The Board of Registrars will be in session at the Town House tomorrow afternoon from two until five o'clock. This date is arranged for the special convenience of women.

There will also be an opportunity to register on next Friday evening between the hours of seven and ten.

No one is permitted to vote unless registered.

Why Women Should Vote

"Because by means of her vote, she as a citizen has a share in making the government good or bad. If good men are elected to office by the people, all women are benefited; if bad men are elected, all women suffer."

"The vote of each citizen counts as one, and only one, regardless of his position in life or his wealth. Elections have sometimes been decided by the margin of a single vote. This shows how important it is for every woman to use the privilege of voting."

Letter of Appreciation

The Home for Aged People has had a rather unusual summer. As a result of the reception and tea on the eighth anniversary of the opening which was held at No. 4 Punchard avenue on June 1, with a cordial invitation to friends and those who were generally interested, wonderful donations of fruit, flowers, and vegetables have been sent us, and, through the generosity of one of the Directors, money to be used for rides or such other pleasures as ice-cream treats, etc. Many private automobiles have been loaned and enjoyed with entertainments at different homes at the end of the day. For all these gifts we take this opportunity to thank our many friends, and neighbors.

We have been especially favored by Mr. Everett Lundgren for the use of his large car which has given us many long and enjoyable rides.

To all these people who have helped give us so much pleasure we wish to extend the sincere thanks and appreciation of all the guests of this Home.

To Help Incapacitated Teachers

One of the most interesting news items announcing a coming social event, concerns the project of Miss Grace M. Cromwell of Bradford Academy to help in furnishing a fund for incapacitated teachers.

Through her efforts John Cowper Powys, celebrated lecturer and author, is engaged to lecture in High School Hall, Haverhill, Friday evening, Oct. 15, upon the subject, "The Absurdity of Optimism and Pessimism." Admission 50 cents. A keen interest in the cause will be the keynote of many who will attend yet it will be an experience worth while for a community to come in contact with such a stimulating and unusual personality.

Mr. Powys for twelve years has devoted all his time to lecturing in England as staff lecturer for the Extension Societies of Oxford, Cambridge and London Universities and the extraordinary popular success of his work won for him invitations to lecture both in America and Europe. His greatest charm is in his amazing dramatic power and that of arousing and holding his audiences.

Child Killed by Automobile

John H. Anderson of 94 Poore street, who with Edward A. Anderson was riding in the automobile which struck and fatally injured Lucille Berube of 372 South Broadway, Lawrence, Monday afternoon on Phillips Hill, pleaded not guilty Tuesday morning in District Court to a charge of manslaughter. At the petition of Capt. J. J. Sullivan for the Commonwealth, the case was continued until October 26th, and bail was set at $1,000 by Judge Frederick N. Chandler. The child died within a short time after the accident.

According to the police report, the injured child, five years old, was struck as she was crossing the street, in company with her little brother and sister. Anderson reported that she darted in the path of his automobile after coming out from behind another car. She was taken to her home and a doctor summoned, but she failed to respond to treatment.

America in Europe

American patriotism, characterized by Henri Bergson as a patriotism not based on tradition nor attachment to the soil, but rather on a selfless devotion to a high ideal of democracy and to right itself as an abstract principle was the keynote of the address delivered by John Kendrick Bangs before the students of Abbot Academy and their friends in Davis hall on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Bangs who spent some time in Europe in the service of the Red Cross was deeply impressed by the spirit with which the American soldiers entered a conflict which offered little of the glamour formerly associated with war, but rather a monotonous round of waiting, mud, mire, slush, blood and death. By numerous stories narrated in his inimitable manner he moved his audience from laughter to tears as he told how in men ranking from officer to doughboy he had found the same human sympathy, the same spirit of humor and the same dauntless courage.

The speaker concluded with a story of an American doughboy who in refusing to accept a tip replied, "We didn't come here to make money, but to do things for other people", and expressed the belief that the American people at home as well as abroad glorying in the privilege of living up to such an ideal and animated by the same selfless devotion would shortly bring the millennium.

The Congregational Club

The ladies of the Free church have kindly consented to cater to the club at its first meeting for the season to be held in their Parish House next Monday evening.

The newly chosen president is our townsman, Hon. Frederic N. Chandler, and the program for the meeting is a discussion of the new political status of our American women. Rev. Chas. P. MacGregor and Mrs. Herbert G. Mank of Lawrence are to be the chief speakers.

The cost of the supper is to be seventy-five cents per plate and our Andover people who are not members are invited to participate.

The music will be furnished by the Free church choir. A memorial to the late Rev. Clark Carter will be read.

Retires after Twenty-Eight Years Service

Alexander Brown, who has been, attained the record of twenty-eight years of steady employment with the Smith and Dove Company, was remembered by his fellow overseers on Friday when he completed his duties in the Batching Department.

As a mark of esteem, he was presented with a beautiful smoking companion, also a box of tobacco. His fellow workers who were gathered around wished him future happiness and good health, regretting the departure of one of their members who had been at all times helpful and an inspiration to those about him.

Local Post Invited to Parade

Andover Post 8, American Legion, has been invited by Commander McGinnis of Lawrence Post to take part in the parade and Welcome Home to the Lawrence service men on Columbus Day. The celebration will be in conjunction with the opening and dedication of the Riding Park, Lawrence, which has been secured by the city for a public playground. Local service men are asked to report at the Armory, Amesbury street, Lawrence, at 11:00 o'clock and wear uniforms.

Will Hold Christmas Sale

The Helping Hand Society of the Free church met Tuesday afternoon in the ladies' parlor with a large attendance.

Routine business was transacted and two members were admitted. Plans for the season were discussed which include a Christmas sale of fancy work, aprons and food to be held early in December. Sewing was done at the meeting in preparation for the sale. The society decided not to undertake the providing of the annual church supper in January.

After the business, afternoon tea was served and a birthday cake cut in honor of the birthday of the president, Mrs. Joshua L. Paine.

His Ambition.

Ten-year-old Ted made his first long visit to the country. He was much impressed with the returns of farming, but not with the work which brought the returns. He studied the occupation of farming diligently in order to see what part of it was easiest. And one day he discovered what he thought was.

"Then he went to his mother. 'I always said that I would be a farmer when I grow up,' he told her, 'but I guess I won't be a real farmer. I guess I'll be a hog stopper.'"

Nothing Doing.

"The overall club is a fine idea for men, but I'm afraid it won't work out."

"Why not?"
"Well, we're going to have trouble if we try to get the women to follow suit and appear in public in house-wrappers."

FAMOUS SCULPTOR COMING

Miss Anna Vaughn Hyatt, Creator of Beautiful Statue of Joan of Arc, Guest at November Club

Miss Anna Vaughn Hyatt, the talented artist who is the sculptor of the magnificent Joan of Arc statue erected on the Riverside Drive, New York, which is the first and only heroic equestrian statue ever created by a woman, will be a visitor in Andover next week. On Saturday afternoon, October 16th she will be the guest of the Art Department at the November Club house where she will speak in groups about her work and show photographs of it.

As Jeanne d'Arc has been the favorite subject of French artists, the triumph of outdoing them all has naturally brought much fame to Miss Hyatt. One of the be erected next year in Gloucester, whether as a soldier's monument or not, I am uncertain.

Brought up in Cambridge, she studied music until she was over twenty, then, influenced by her father's science and her own love for animals she turned to modelling them, later taking up the figure. Here are a few of the animals in parks and private grounds of which Miss Hyatt was the sculptor: Colossal Lion at Dayton, Ohio; Fox at Lancaster, N. H.; Marble Dogs, Huntington place, Cal.; Two Fountains, Schwab place, Pa.; Two Fountains, Southampton, Long Island; Brass Dogs in Vermont.

She says, "I have had to study; my wild animals largely in animal shows and parks and often made friends among them. The friendship that I prided myself in mostly was with 'Lopez' an immense jaguar, captured fully grown and brought from South America. He was notoriously savage even to hating an individual determination and unswerving power of will to accomplish Herculean tasks.

The rare force to work that drives a genius of the first order, turned her aside, during the war to knit several hundred stockings on her machine, and the Y. M. C. A. canteen service. Under conditions such as actuated the "Maid of Orleans," Miss Hyatt of all Americans would, I am sure prove the saviour of our country, and has already played the part of Joan of Arc mounted and in full armor in a New York architect's pageant and in a big charity affair at Madison Square Garden.

Where a natural versatility has proved a bane to many artistic temperaments and kept them from doing any one thing really well, in her case it has rounded out every quality into a sound completeness. Let me add that she is an enthusiastic farmer and however distinguished or numerous the Sunday afternoon guests

THE railroads were partly responsible. But it wasn't until the automobile reached its present state of development that the old barriers against travel were finally broken down.

II

More people own automobiles today than ever thought of owning a horse and buggy in the old days.

That's because the cost of motoring has been brought within reach of the average citizen's pocketbook.

We look upon it as part of our job to keep it there. If it weren't for the sake of the man with the medium priced car there wouldn't be much in this tire business for us.

III

The less a man has to spend on motoring, the more important it is that his tires should be of first quality.

Any tire is not good enough for the small car owner. He wants a tire that will give him just as much for his money in the small size as the big car man gets for his money in the large size.

IV

In thinking over what kind of tires we would represent in this community we tried to put ourselves in the place of the car owner. And we believe we hit it exactly when we selected U. S. Tires.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

STATUE OF JOAN OF ARC, RIVERSIDE DRIVE, NEW YORK,
 by Anna Vaughn Hyatt reasons of her unique record over other women is that she had the engineering ability to construct, actually with the uncommon strength of her own hands, for her first model, the iron frame-work with the many little wooden slats on which the clay is masked, and that she had the physical endurance to apply to it three and a half tons of clay, working at a minimum seventy hours per week to finish it in time for the Paris "Salon."

Miss Hyatt is an indomitable horseman, practised in cross-country riding in Virginia. Her knowledge of equine anatomy is unequalled. The writer remembers how the sculptor watched the play of muscles of dray horses hauling granite from the Rockport quarries during the time that she was modelling Jeanne d'Arc's steed, for which, by the way, a horse from the Gloucester fire-station posed in her summer studio. A copy of the New York statue is to his keepers and eventually killing his mate, but I succeeded after working by his cage for a month, doing several small studies of him, in gaining confidence and affection, so he came to call at the bars of his cage, purring and conversing and finally lying down close to the bars on his back to have his stomach rubbed."

Slides of some of her work have been made especially to show on October 14th at the Colonial Theatre. It is hoped that they will be appreciated here. A slide of this Hyatt Joan of Arc has the first to be shown in a series at the Rialto Theatre, Lawrence, and the applause for the masterpiece was splendid.

As a pupil, Miss Hyatt owes the most to Gutzon Borglum and has worked under H. H. Kitson, and H. A. MacNeil. With an exceptional intellectual inheritance and every advantage of mind and body, Miss Hyatt is also possessed of at "Seven Acres" she never forgets to milk her cows. She is able to seek inspiration from the original sources of literature, or to express with native talent her own ideas in writing.

As an old friend and afterwards a fellow-student in the Art Students' League, I made a prophecy that Miss Hyatt would surpass all women sculptors in America. Now that it is fulfilled it seems time, as she has only just reached the age when an artist is master of his technique. So we may safely extend our forecast and look for her name in golden letters among the greatest of any country and of all ages.

From many magazine articles about Miss Hyatt, three are chosen for exhibition in the Memorial Library. In the Bookstore window there is also something to see and to read.

Newburyport Won from Punchard

On the local playstead Saturday afternoon, Punchard was defeated by the heavy Newburyport High eleven 19-0, but the locals put up a stiff battle against big odds. The visitors were the heaviest high school team which has ever yet played here. Punchard time and again held them and also made big gains.

Coach Lovly has a very light team this year, but they put up a very scrappy fight against their towering opponents and only the end of the second period saved Newburyport from being scored upon, the ball being on the six-yard line, and Punchard going fast. Dyer was the best ground gainer for Punchard, while Sullivan's punting drove Newburyport back on many occasions.

There was no scoring in the first period; in the second Newburyport made three touchdowns, but kicked only one goal.

The summary:

Shawsheen Team Loses to Buffalo

The Shawsheen A. A. football team lost its opening game to the Buffalos of Lawrence, Saturday afternoon, the superior weight of the visitors resulting in the defeat of the S. A. A., 13 to 0. The game was played on the Andover town-farm field which was in good condition and there was a good attendance. The Buffalos scored six points in the second period and seven more in the third chiefly through the fine work of Burke. McGuire and Piper played a star game for the S. A. A. but were unable to score.

Remarks

"I am an old fellow," says Cowper, in one of his letters to Burdick, "but I had once my dancing days, as you have now; yet I could never find that I could learn half so much of a woman's real character, by dancing with her, as conversing with her at home; where I could observe her behavior at the table or at the fireside, and in all the scenes of domestic life. We are all good when pleased, but she is the good woman, who wants not the fiddle to sweeten her."—From Argus, May 14, 1820.

Free Church Notes

A Men's Discussion Class has been organized at the Free church and has had two very interesting meetings. Last Sunday there was a vigorous discussion concerning the influence of the war on the men of America. The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that thus far the influence has been more for the bad than for the good, though the hope was expressed that this was a temporary and not a permanent effect. Next Sunday at 12.00 the class will have for its subject, "Is the Church Losing its Influence Upon the Average Man?" The nominating committee will present a list of nominees and officers of the class will be elected.

On Friday afternoon at 2.30 the Ladies' Benevolent Society will meet for sewing at 3.30; Dr. Charles E. Abbott will speak on "Problems of the Woman Voter." Afternoon tea will be served.

Abbot Academy Notes

On Saturday at hall exercises, Prof. Emerson of Boston, the great authority on the spider, gave an eye-opening lecture on that interesting insect, illustrated by lantern slides. Later he put the school further in his debt by taking the biology class for a hike from which they returned with many specimens.

D. Brewer Eddy spoke to the students at Sunday evening Chapel on "Three Hundred Years of the Puritan Spirit." The talk was illustrated by slides of old Pilgrim prints and of scenes and charts showing the work of the Pilgrim spirit throughout the world today.

John Kendrick Bangs' lecture on America abroad was enjoyed by a large audience. His adventures during the war have in no way impaired his delightful sense of humor, and his experiences with the American troops have made him an "incorrigible optimist" regarding the future of America.

On Wednesday afternoon a party of girls enjoyed a trolley ride. The general appearance of the coach and four throughout the country made this outing a real event.

On Sunday evening, October 10th, Dr. George Buttrick, who gave the Commencement address last June, will speak at Chapel. Many people who heard his address then wish to hear him again; the service will be held in Davis Hall at 7.30 and the public will be very welcome.

In the death of Mr. George G. Davis of North Andover, Abbot Academy has lost a generous benefactor and a dear friend. Mr. Davis has been a trustee of the school since 1910 and his services have been manifold. Among his recent gifts are Davis Hall, given in memory of his father, George L. Davis, who had been a trustee; a fund the income of which should be used for the upkeep of Davis Hall and the organ given by his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Davis Simpson; and, very recently, the gateway, at the corner of School and Abbot streets, which is to be known as the Davis Gateway. The influence of Mr. Davis' wise generosity and his gracious personality will long be a factor in the development of the school.

Disappointed in Trip to New York

A trip which Elizabeth O'Brien, aged thirteen years, 89 North Main street, and Mary Hurley, aged twelve years, 88 North Main street, anticipated to New York when they boarded the Portland-New York express at Andover depot at 1.30 o'clock Thursday morning without railroad tickets or funds, was frustrated when the conductor discovered them in one of the coaches. The girls were turned over to the Lowell police and their parents were notified of their plight Thursday morning.

The girls were seen by employees of the railroad at the station late in the evening and their disappearance at the time of the departure of the New York train aroused suspicion.

The police were notified and on investigation it was found that the girls had left home without their parents' knowledge. A telegram was sent to Lowell and the proposed trip was abruptly terminated.

Plea for Safer Roads

The Safe Roads Federation of Massachusetts, which last week reported that its first study of a group of fatal accidents disclosed the fact that over speeding was the cause of the larger number of them, today issued a warning of the dangers of October driving.

"September and October are the two months in the year that show the largest number of accidents," the statement declares. "The apparent causes and cooler weather, which results in faster driving; earlier night-fall, which urges thousands to get home before lighting their lamps; the return of many people from their country homes, which adds to the congestion on main travel roads; obscured windshields; fall rains and wet leaves. In view of these facts drivers of motor vehicles should exercise unusual care during the present months when the peak of travel will be reached."

Frank C. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, and chairman of the state council of the Safe Roads Federation, said in a statement to the Townsman:

"I wish that it might be made clear that the Federation is a movement of the general public to cooperate in an effort to reduce the total of 16,834 accidents that we had in the state last year, and may exceed in the present year unless local communities under their efforts with ours. We are anxious to have cooperation in every town of the commonwealth, and will be glad to answer any inquiries that may be made of us. The Safe Roads Federation has opened headquarters in the rooms of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce at 6 Beacon street, Boston."
